

DAR Unit Tea, Travelogue Set Saturday

By PAT JOHNSON

The plunk-plunk of loose planks on a unique bridge leading to the new home of Mrs. Claude A. Welles will signal the approach Saturday of guests for the May tea and travelogue to be held by De Anza Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Inside the Welles home, one of five featured on the recent Rancho Santa Fe Garden Club tour, the hostess will greet guests in a chapel-like drawing room. Receiving with her will be Mmes. Robert L. Sperry, regent, and Grace Hendrickson Ayres, vice regent.

An arrangement of gold and blue iris with white stock will center the tea table, where Mmes. Martha Colley Ferneding and Morris Fitzpatrick have been asked to pour.

Guest speaker will be Miss Robley Baskerville, whose talk, "From Here to Where," will cover her recent travels in Europe.

Mrs. Sperry will relate her impressions of the recent 76th Continental Congress in Washington D.C.

To Preview Home

Another Ranch home, this one a month short of completion, will be opened for a "preview party" May 21 by Mills College Alumni Association of San Diego.

The open house at the 15,000-square-foot adobe home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Friedkin on Via de la Valle will be held as a benefit for the school's Challenge Fund.

Mrs. Colin Wied, local association chairman, is heading arrangements for the 1 to 6 p.m. event at "Fiesta de la Hacienda." A mariachi band, refreshments and the gowns of hostesses will further the Mexican flavor of the home, designed by Sim Bruce Richard.

Assisting with arrangements are Mmes. Fred Crowell, Rancho Santa Fe, refreshments; Paul Wormser, decorations; Earl V. Roberts, transportation; Richard, program; Robert Kronmeyer, treasurer; Thomas Ashworth III, hostesses; John K. MacKenzie, tickets; H. Douglas Harvey and Robert Straumfjord, publicity, and Richard Lareau, Nathaniel Davis, Joseph A. White and Carl Burkett, invitations.

Guests are requested to park at Whispering Palms, where transportation to the home will be provided.

Thank-You Lunch

with the recent Rancho Santa Fe Garden Club tour will be given Wednesday by Mrs. Howard Will, general chairman, at her home.

The function is planned as a "thank you" for aiding with the annual tour, attended this year by some 800 guests. Proceeds of nearly $1,900 will be used for Ranch beautification.

2 Dinners

Two dinner parties will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kennedy prior to their departure June 16 on a seven-week tour of Denmark, Sweden and Norway.

Forty guests have been bidden to supper in their home May 21, with a black-tie dinner to follow May 26 at Rancho Santa Fe Inn.

Bridge Lunch

Progressive bridge will follow the annual luncheon Tuesday of the Rancho Santa Fe Garden Club in the clubhouse.

After the 12:30 p.m. buffet lunch and election of officers, tables for four will be cleared for bridge play. Mrs. Fillmore Rose, program chairman, said canasta and other games will be available.

Mrs. James Reeves is luncheon chairman, assisted by Mrs. Leonard Bell. Guests are invited to the club's final meeting of the current term.

Members of the horticulture section, meanwhile, will gather at 2 p.m. Thursday to hear a talk on "Roses — Their Culture and New Varieties," by Fred Walters past president of the American Rose Society, the Pacific Rose Society and Bernardo Beautiful. An official of the national Council of Garden Clubs, he and Mrs. Walters have judged rose shows throughout the world. They will be luncheon guests of Mrs. Rose preceding the meeting.

The club's monthly potluck and bridge section will meet at 6:30 p.m. May 18 with Mr. and Mrs. Hans Amtmann, hosts.

Gallery Tour

Ranch residents will become acquainted, or have prior familiarity refreshed, as they are given a special tour tomorrow of the Fine Arts Gallery in San Diego.

Some 100 localities will join in the chartered bus trip, luncheon at the House of Hospitality and gallery tour.

Mrs. Samuel H. Bingham and Eugene Fletcher are in charge of arrangements, assisted by Messrs. and Mmes. Wendell K.

Baritone Due

The Ranch home of Mrs. H. C. Teasdel will be the site May 18 for a 10 a.m. meeting of the San Diego Auxiliary to the Women's Committee, San Diego Symphony. Baritone Charles Davis will perform.

To Welcome Delegates

Returning delegates from the national convention in Washington, D.C., will be welcomed during a board meeting at 10 a.m. Friday of Rancho Santa Fe Republican Women's Club.

Mrs. Grace Hendrickson Ayres, president, and Mrs. Thomas C. Ward, alternate, will report on the women's conclave during the session at Mrs. Ayres' home.

The group's next general meeting will be a potluck luncheon at 11:30 a.m. May 15 at the home of Mrs. Gordon I. Siegel. Mrs. Donald L. Kintner will lead a discussion of Rhodesia.

The club also will sponsor a talk by Martin L. Montroy, former head of the federal urban renewal program, at 8 p.m. May 22 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl A. Weber. The meeting is open to all those interested in American government, officials said.

Ham To Speak

Tom Ham Jr., chairman of San Diego's 200th anniversary celebration, will be guest speaker at the Country Friend's annual meeting May 25 in the trophy room, Lake San Marcos Golf Club.

Ham's appearance, during which he will detail plans for women's participation in the coming celebration, was announced by Mrs. C. Temple Murphy, president, during a Monday board meeting at Rancho Santa Fe Inn.

Board members will be hostesses, Mrs. Murphy said, and area directors from Rancho Santa Fe and Escondido will be in charge of decorations.

Sponsors Named

Among sponsors for the "Up with People" performance at 7 p.m. today in Sherwood Hall, La Jolla, are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapin and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meyerhoff of the Ranch.

To Plan Lunch

Final plans for a May 19 luncheon will be set during a board meeting of Women's Council, Village Community Church, at 10:15 a.m. tomorrow in Fellowship hall.

Sisterhood Sets Installation Rite

Mrs. Irving Klein will be new president of Temple Beth El Sisterhood with her installation at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the temple.

Other elective officers are Mmes. Miki Schwartz, Howard Tulchinsky, Justin Wenger and Frank Hoffman, vice presidents; Sam Rosenberg, Larry Rubel and Ira Goldstein, secretaries, and William Goldschneider, treasurer. A fashion show will follow.
